

CLAIM

What I claim as my invention is the use of a system of small lights that indicate to anyone approaching the vehicle from the front or following a vehicle from the rear that indicates whether or not the occupants are wearing their seatbelts.